

Ladies and gentlemen, as we gather near,
To celebrate love with hearts sincere.
My dear daughter, radiant and bright,
Today you embark on a wondrous flight.
In the garden of life, petals unfold,
A tale of romance, both new and old.
As stars above begin to dance,
We witness the magic of true romance.
Your smiles reflect a gentle grace,
In his eyes, you find your place.
Together you'll weave dreams anew,
With love's golden thread, forever true.
Let the winds sing a soft refrain,
As love's embrace shall ever remain.
May laughter light your every day,
And in each other, find your way.
So here's to your journey, hand in hand,
In this vast and wondrous land.
May your hearts forever entwine,
In a love that's pure, and truly divine.
To the bride and groom, a toast we raise,
With love and joy, for all your days.
Blessings on your newfound start,
Forever held within our heart.
Congratulations, my dear daughter,
My love for you grows stronger and fonder.
