

Good afternoon, everyone,

Today, we stand together against one of the most pressing issues facing our schools and communities--bullying. Each one of us has the power to create a positive change. We're here not just to talk about the problem, but to be part of the solution.

Every kind word, every supportive gesture can make a huge difference in someone's life. Imagine a community where respect and kindness are the norms, where everyone feels safe and valued. This is not just a dream. It's a future we can create together.

Let us pledge to be the allies who stand up and speak out. Let us teach empathy and model it through our actions. Remember, change starts with us, and together, we are unstoppable.

Thank you.
