

Esteemed faculty, cherished friends, and fellow graduates,
As the sun sets gently upon our college days,
We stand together, at the dawn of new ways.
Through corridors of knowledge, we did roam,
Together we built this academic home.
Days of laughter and nights of deep thought,
With each lesson learned, new dreams we sought.
In the garden of wisdom, we planted seeds,
Nurtured by guidance, to fruitful deeds.
Though today we part, paths set anew,
The bonds we've forged shall remain true.
With courage in heart and stars in our eyes,
We'll chase our dreams toward limitless skies.
So let us celebrate, with joy and grace,
The memories and friendships that time won't erase.
To the future we march, heads held high,
For we are the authors of our own sky.
Thank you.
