

Ladies and gentlemen,

Thank you for gathering here today to discuss an issue that touches each and every one of us: the cleanliness of our public transport system.

These buses, trains, and subways are not just means to get from point A to point B; they are the veins through which our city lives and breathes.

Let's take action to ensure these shared spaces are as clean, comfortable, and inviting as possible. Imagine a commute where each seat is spotless, floors shine, and the air feels fresh. This is not just a dream but a reachable goal if we all come together.

First, we can work with the local transport authorities. By voicing our concerns and offering solutions together, we can help emphasize the importance of regular, thorough cleaning, and maintenance. Our feedback can spark initiatives that bring real change to our daily journeys.

Secondly, let's embrace the power of community responsibility. Each of us can play a part--small actions, like disposing of trash properly and reporting cleanliness issues, can make a big difference. Encouraging positivity and accountability can transform our travel experience.

Finally, let's celebrate the progress we achieve. Every step forward is a victory worth recognizing. By continuously advocating for and participating in the upkeep of our public transport, we are not just passengers; we are stewards of our communal environment.

Thank you for taking this step with me towards a cleaner, brighter, and more welcoming public transport system. Together, we can make our commutes something to look forward to.

Let's take action!