

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed judges, and fellow debaters,
Today, we stand not just as participants, but as warriors of words, ready to engage in a battle of intellect and eloquence. This debate is not merely an exchange of ideas, but a challenge to push the boundaries of our understanding and to sharpen our skills against worthy opponents. In this arena, we will question, confront, and defend our beliefs with passion and precision. Let us embrace the challenge ahead with courage and commitment, knowing that every argument presented is a step towards intellectual triumph.
May the best arguments prevail, and may our deliberations be fierce yet respectful. Let the debate begin!
