

Good afternoon, everyone,

Thank you for coming together today. I want to speak to you about the importance of reconciliation and what it means for us as a school community.

Reconciliation is about building understanding and respect between people with different perspectives and experiences. It is about learning from each other and finding ways to come together, even when we don't always agree.

As members of the student council, we have the responsibility to set an example of unity and cooperation. We must work to ensure that every student feels heard and valued. Let's commit to open, respectful dialogue and strive to create an inclusive environment for everyone.

Let's celebrate our diversity and use it as a strength. By doing so, we can make our school a place where everyone can thrive.

Thank you for listening, and let's move forward together with respect and understanding.

Have a great day!
